[Press release]

Two brokers, Servyr and Fibus, sign a commercial partnership at the service of small and mid-sized companies.

This partnership will allow the two independent brokers, which are leaders on their insurance and customer receivables markets, to provide companies with a complementary and expanded range of services in France and internationally. The deal includes Fibus' acquisition of Servyr's credit insurance and factoring businesses.

Servyr, an insurance consultancy and brokerage; and Fibus, a consultancy, brokerage and digital solution firm specialising in factoring and credit insurance, today signed a commercial partnership that will allow each of them to expand their range of services.

Both companies have long-standing expertise with small and mid-sized companies, in France and internationally. They also share the same vision of the independent brokerage business, which is based on values of integrity, service and close client relationships.

This strategic partnership allows Servyr and Fibus to offer companies the best of their respective know-how:

- in Servyr's case, corporate risks and social protection solutions, and implementing and managing international insurance programmes;
- for Fibus, factoring and credit insurance in France and internationally.

Quentin Renard, Chairman of Servyr: « We have a good close relationship with Fibus and its staff. Through this partnership, we will be able to offer our clients a broader range of credit insurance and factoring services. It will also give us many opportunities to expand our business with attractive mid-sized companies. »

Gaëtan du Halgouët, co-founder and Managing Director of Fibus: « We are delighted with this partnership, which allows us to supplement our support for small and mid-sized companies by offering them insurance solutions that serve their businesses and their employees. The diligence and quality of Servyr's teams and offers will help consolidate the trust they have placed in us. »
